

Week Commencing 08.06.20

LO: To make predictions.

When making predictions we need to consider the information we have and what this might mean for what happens next. This week, we will be using this picture to make predictions. It is important to consider what will happen next, but also think about why we think that and what evidence we have to back up our predictions.

Use this picture to answer the questions on the next page and make your predictions.
