

Week Commencing 08.06.20

LO: To use complex sentences using a relative clause.

Warm up: Identify the relative pronouns below.

I, we, that, which, my, he, she, when, where, our

Challenge 1: Use the relative clause below embedded in a sentence.

- 1) ... who went red in the face ...
- 2) ... which was taller than a human ...
- 3) ... whose hair is yellow and green ...
- 4) ... that looked like a crazy animal ...

Tick the sentences below that include a relative clause and add the missing punctuation.

- 1) The elephant that had misbehaved hung his trunk in shame.
- 2) Who was the person that won the London Marathon this year?
- 3) Which snake is the longest snake in the world?
- 4) The car which had been badly damaged was taken to the scrap yard.

Challenge 2: Insert the relative pronoun that can be used to complete both complex sentences.

- 1) The UFO _____ crash landed in my garden is on the front page of every newspaper.
 - 2) The ice cream _____ I was saving for later melted when I left it out on the side.
-
- 1) The kind gentleman, _____ head was swollen, was rushed to the hospital.
 - 2) The old superhero, _____ outfit was too tight and torn, decide to retire.

Challenge 3: Has the correct relative pronoun been used in the sentence below?

1) The water park, who was amazing, was the thing I enjoyed the most about our holiday.

Yes

No

If no, what should it be?

2) The boy, who arm was broken, was taken to the hospital immediately.

Yes

No

If no, what should it be?

3) All the inhabitants of planet Zorb, whom hair was red, huddled around the fire, whichever the weather was like.

Yes

No

If no, what should it be?

Challenge 4: Add a relative clause to the main clauses below using one of the following relative pronouns.

1. who/whose

Devastator was once again undefeated.

2. which/that

Giraffes have black tongues and eat leaves from the tops of trees.

Challenge 5:

Eddie says:

You can use the relative pronoun 'whose' to start a sentence.

Is he correct? Explain your answer.

Charlie says:

You can still have a relative clause without a relative pronoun.

Is he correct? Explain your answer.

